Crusade For Freedom Presents New Motorcade

To dramatize the ways in which the Crusade for Freedom penetrates Iron Curtain countries to fight Communism, a motorcade has started another week of its state tour for some 50 local rallies in connection with the Crusade campaign which opened the week of October 21, reported Thomas M. Pelly, Washington state chairman.

Co-sponsored by the Washington Department, American Legion, and the joint council of teamsters No. 28, ching vehicles, both loaned by the makers.

A freedom blue Ford truck carries a replica of the 135,000-watt transmitting tower by which Radio Free Europe beams truth to Red satellite countries; a sound-equipped Chevrolet station wagon is the base for rebroadcasts of actual programs that are heard by oppressed peoples in captive countries.

EFFECTIVENESS PROVED

"Effectiveness of the Crusade's psychological warfare against the Kremlin has been proved," Pelly said Sunday just before going to Tokyo for the International Trade and Government Conference.

"We have undisputed evidence that the messages of truth, friendship and freedom, as beamed by the free world powerful transmitter and dropped by balloons, daily are giving Red-dominated peoples the courage to resist their oppressors."

HEADS DRIVE

Vice-chairman for the state, and actively heading the drive during Pelly's absence, is Clinton S. Harley, Seattleite prominent in civic, legislative and club activities.

His identification with the China Club (charter member and five-year president) makes his interest especially keen in Radio Free Asia, which will be put into full operation after the national 1951 Crusade campaign.

The Freedom motorcade, with the truck display and set-up, program and break-down timed to the minute, is scheduled to stay about two hours in each place, but each streamlined appearance is planned, in cooperation with the county chairman, to highlight Crusade observances.

The sound truck alerts downtown districts 15 minutes before the rally, while others in the Crusade crew set up the display, check the 230-cubic-foot helium tank and make ready for the main feature.

RALLY CLIMAX

Climax of the rally is launching of each type of helium-borne balloon already used in Europe to spill millions of leaflets into Iron Curtain countries. The leaflets contain messages about Crusade for Freedom, also blanks for finders to fill out and send to state headquarters (American Building, Seattle) with name and address of finder, place and time found.

SGA To Sponsor Trip To Cheney Homecoming

This week the SGA is sponsoring another trek. This time the trek will be to Cheney on Saturday where Central will meet Eastern in their annual Homecoming game, Len Oebser, SGA president announced today.

In order to get as many cars and people together as possible, Oebser said that a car pool list will be put up in the Union building. All persons interested in going are asked to sign the list.

Girls will be given a late leave until 3:30 a.m. Sunday morning, so that they will have sufficient time to attend the Cheney festivities.

Student tickets will be on sale in the Union building for all students interested in making the trek.

Parking Group Holds Meeting

At a meeting held October 29, the Student-Faculty parking committee made arrangements for the Honor Council to handle all offenders in the Administration building parking lot, Dr. Max Klingbeil, committee chairman, said.

The lot will be checked regularly by the Intercollegiate Knights and the Alpha Phi Omega organization, service honoraries. The delay in checking was due to the hold-up in parking slips.

Dr. Klingbeil emphasized that there are more eligible people than there are parking places, but he said, faculty and students, alike, are required to park in their designated areas.

Stickers will have to renewed each quarter as the students eligibility often changes if they move on to the campus.

Parking hours in the lot are from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Elizabeth Avery To Be On Campus; Sessions Scheduled For Friday

Miss Elizabeth Avery, Health Education Consultant from the National office of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, will be on the Central campus on Friday, November 2nd, Miss Jesse Puckett, associate professor of physical education, said today.

Miss Avery, a specialist in health education, has spent the past several weeks visiting colleges and universities in the west. She will spend several hours on Friday speaking to groups of majors and minors in health and physical education, and acting as consultant to small groups interested in health instruction.

Interested students and faculty are invited to attend any of the sessions that meet their convenience. The tentative schedule is as follows:

10 a.m. Panel discussion with

Delegates To Go To NW Workshop

Central's Home Economics club will send delegates to the American Home Economics Association Workshop of College Clubs of Province XIII, northwest district, to be held on the Oregon State College campus, November 2 and 3. Miss Helen Michaelson, associate professor of home economics said.

The theme of the workshop is "Home Economists, Stewards in the World Today." Students who will represent C.W.C. Home Economics club at the Corvallis Workshop will be Marilyn Kilgore, Barbara George, Frances Cooper, June Foster, and Mary Miller. Miss Michaelson, club adviser, will also attend.

FTA Initiation Set For November 6

Marie Johnson, CWC Future Teachers of America president, said this week that the initiation of new members will take place at 7:15 p.m., November 6 in the College Elementary School auditorium.

She emphasized that all dues must be paid before initiation. Miss Johnson said that refreshments will be served following the ceremony.

Sweezy's First Mascot Will Attend Homecoming

The biggest thing since the Tomlinson field explosion is about to hit the Sweezy campus. For the first time in the Evergreen conference, a college is about to become the proud owner of a mascot, Len Oebser, student government association president declared this week.

Steve and Bob Kerpan, managers of the Wildcat Inn, have donated to the college a live wildcat, which will be housed in a special cage of honor at the Inn. This wildcat is being brought to the Central campus from its home in Texas.

APO Club Sets Dance

The Alpha Phi Omega, Boy Scout service honorary, is sponsoring the annual Handsome Harry dance, November 16, Bob Notman, publicity chairman, said today.

He explained that each dorm will elect a candidate and then an election will be held to choose the winner. The election is unique, Notman stated, in that the votes are cast by dropping coins into milk bottles bearing the names of the candidates.

The candidate with the most coins then is declared to be Handsome Harry.

Mrs. Olive Schnebly, manager of the Union building, said today, that the CUB will be closed during the general Student Government Association assemblies.

The cat is to be named by a student and that student will receive a free ticket to the Homecoming dance.

The contest to name the cat will take place from November 2 to November 7 in the CUB, Oebser said. Winner in the name the cat contest will be announced at the Homecoming Kick-off broadcast on Wednesday evening.

The cat will make his first official appearance at the Homecoming game November 10, Oebser concluded.

Scholarship Announced

Central Washington College has been notified that it is eligible to nominate candidates for the Rhodes Scholarship for the college year of 1952, according to Ernest Muzzall, director of the Office of Instruction.

The scholarship entitles the holder to study at the University of Oxford, England, for two years. In some cases, a third year is granted, added Muzzall. The value of a Rhodes Scholarship is 500 pounds a year and students who qualify may use the G.I. Bill if they are eligible.

To be eligible, the candidates must be male, a citizen of the U.S., and unmarried. He must have passed his nineteenth birthday as of October 1 of the year in which he is selected and not have passed his twenty-fifth birthday.

Students elected in December, 1951, will enter Oxford, 1952. At the time of application, the eligibility rules read on, he must have at least junior standing in a recognized degree-granting college or university.

The basis of selection include: literary and scholastic ability and attainments; qualities of manhood—truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness and fellowship; exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take and interest in his schoolmates; physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports or other ways.

Interested students should see Muzzall before the end of this week. All applications must be mailed to the Washington Selection Committee by November 3, 1951.

CW Representatives Meet At Timberline

Three staff members from CWC attended the annual meeting of the Western Society of Physical Education for College Women, held at Timberline Lodge on October 20-23. Miss Jesse Puckett, Miss Evans and Miss Anna Pavloff were the Central Washington College representatives.

Miss Pavloff participated in the banquet program, and Miss Puckett participated in a session on fundamentals of movement.

Miss Evans took part in a group meeting which discussed "Problems of Small Colleges."

Letter From The Staff

In the past years and this year, too, as far as that goes, the Campus Crier has received complaints concerning the turning in of material that has never been published.

The staff is under the impression that some groups on the campus have gotten the idea that the newspaper is partial to certain organizations in publishing news items.

This situation is due largely to the fact that the editors have never seen the material that has allegedly been turned in. If this, then, is true, the editor could not be guilty of such selective publication.

It is true that the editor does have jurisdiction over the material that is printed, but it is the aim of the Crier staff to print all the news that is of interest to the students and faculty of the campus.

In order to eliminate lost copy, we are installing a locked collection box for copy. This box will be located immediately outside of the door to the Crier office. If you want to turn in an article for the paper, it must be put into the box.

This box will be opened only by the editor and a record of the material in the box will be kept so that a check can be made are received concerning material supposedly turned in to the Crier.

Another point that should be brought out is that news is expected to be turned in on the Saturday before publication. We realize that often some event does not take place until Saturday evening or even Monday or Tuesday, but this does not mean you can not get it published. This material will be accepted if you first make arrangements with the editor.

The staff is hoping, that in this way, fewer errors and greater efficiency in coverage can be maintained by the Crier.

Governor Langlie Regrets Longstanding Commitment

Thank you so much for your kind invitation to attend the annual Homecoming festivities at the Central Washington College the weekend of November 9 to 11. As much as I would enjoy participating in this celebration, I regret sincerely that previous longstanding commitments for those dates make it impossible for me to attend.

However, I wish to express my heartiest best wishes to students, faculty and alumni for a successful and enjoyable Homecoming which I know is one of the most colorful and memorable occasions of the year at Central Washington College.

Thanking you again for your gracious invitation, I am
Sincerely yours,
Arthur B. Langlie

Letter To The Students

Hi ho, guys and gals, come to the dance and bring your pals. There'll be dancing galore, so bring your pal to the ballroom floor.

If you enjoy waltzing, the two step, a fast one or two. That's all the more reason why you should be there too. What's the date? Oh, the time? It's Nov. 3 and it starts at 9 p.m.

The cost is quite low, only 15¢ for stags and 25¢ for couples. So come, head the line at the door of the new gym. And remember, that it's cheaper by the couple.

To The Editor . .

Monday evening we were privileged to hear a very fine community concert. Being naturally enthused over the very fine presentation of Mr. John Carter, a group of us proceeded to the Union Building where we had previously seen an announcement of a reception to be held for Mr. Carter by students, faculty and faculty wives...Upon arrival we were told that "girls were to be in the dormitories immediately after the concert....."

Perhaps it was an oversight on the part of one or more people that girls were not allowed to attend the reception, but as a group of students interested in the concerts and assemblies presented at C.W.C., could it be arranged that women students be granted possibly one half hour or more of late leave following such functions to express their appreciation to the performing artists?

RELISH: So far the music department is way out in front this year. The assembly Thursday morning is a feather in their cap. The other departments could maybe get together and keep us entertained all year.

The old college Inn has had an about face. In fact it is now the Wildcat Inn and is under the management of Bob and Steve Kerpan. Bright colors and a cordiality to match are much in evidence. Cartoons are soon to adorn the ceilings. Sunday night a jam session was on the menu and it was delicious. A new method of making coffee is a vast improvement over the old way.

HARLEY JONES

After looking through all the reviewed titles back to 1940 and finding nothing about this week's movie, I was frankly discouraged. All I knew was the fact that the film was "The Courageous Mr. Penn," and that is hardly enough to use in evaluating.

However, I have a contact in Aberdeen, and a hurried call to the beautiful city of lights brought the vague statement, "I'll see what I can do. Johnny might know something about it."

Less than an hour ago came the reply: MR PENN RAN THIRD IN THE PREAKNESS 1942. JOHNNY.

Don't ask me who Johnny is, but he probably has a far more interesting subject in the 1942 Preakness than we have in the film scheduled for Saturday at 7:30.

For your benefit, gentle reader, I previewed half of the show. The short subject is "Chimp's Vacation," and nauseating though it is, it is at least better than the feature. In fact, the star of the picture reminds me of someone I know. It was put together back when they called war bonds "Savings Bonds." (1946, wasn't it?)

The feature is a British Esquire production, backed by one J.H. Hoffberg for distribution. There is, wisely, no copyright date, but after the title is the year "1667." If this applies to the text of the film,

Big-Time 'Fixers' Nabbed In Attempt

by R.U. Reddy

The sporting world was rocked today with the dynamic disclosure by members of the Central night watchman's squad that special investigators checking the campus had discovered two undercover men for a New York sports fixing syndicate bunking under assumed names in Munson Hall.

Probing into the affair, officials found the two men known on police blotters throughout the nation as "Little Joe" and "Moogoo", attempting to enslave members of the Wildcat football team to shave points from the Central-Cheney game this week.

The announcement of the arrest by the night watchman squad brought to a close a dynamic week of investigating in which the investigators posing as members of the squad had been wined and dined in the more exclusive clubs around the campus: the CUB, the Wildcat Inn, and Bill's. Both men insisted on paying for the evening entertainment each time--with bills ranging from 30 to 50 cents. (They just threw their money around.)

Word from officials at Cheney is that two men answering the description of "Little Joe" and "Moogoo" were seen driving around the Savage practice field in an expensive 1929 Ford convertible the week before. A few days later the two men appeared on the Central campus and began to talk to members of the squad about shaving points.

Football officials here at Central were unable to get the full story from the players as almost the entire squad was in the infirmary recuperating from the rough and vicious play of the UBC Thunderbirds. (A formal investigation is also underway in this game to find out whether or not the Thunderbirds were out to "get" members of the squad.) However, it is believed the two men were attempting to get the Cats to shave the game down to around 35-40 to 0.

Cheney Tilt Homecoming For Redmen

Abe Poffenroth's not quite so savage Eastern Washington Savages will meet the Central Wildcats in the featured event of the 1951 Eastern Homecoming this Saturday afternoon at Woodward field.

Currently sporting a 0-3 won and lost record the Savages are mired in the cellar with Whitworth in the Evergreen league.

Last week the Redmen showed a reversal of previous form by extending a strong Western Washington squad to 20-12 before bowing out. Previously the easterners had been blanked in three contests (58-0, 39-0, and 59-0) and had dropped Montana State 19-13.

This is strictly a building year for Poffenroth, with only a bare nucleus of returning lettermen to bolster the squad. In the backfield, only Howard Glazier shifty halfback remains from last years' squad. However, a little 150 -pound scatback freshman, Frank Whitaker, has shown considerable promise.

In the line, Poffenroth has had to rebuild completely, yet has managed to bring along some of the freshmen and sophomore linemen.

SPORTS LANTS

UBC 20---Cats 12!--Last Saturday the Cats were given the stinging lesson that overconfidence can backfire and leave you with the dirty end. Traveling to our northern neighbor's turf abode, the Cats got their lumps from a firedup Thunderbird eleven that hadn't heard or didn't heed the copy written about the opponent's previous game. Homecoming was indeed sweet for the 'Birds this year and a 150-pound halfback named Gordie Puil was the tantilizer in the Cats' hair all afternoon. That old Cat weakness, the quick opener, had the Cats sitting on their haunches all afternoon while little Gordie hippered and dipped for all that yardage. My, my.

This Saturday the Cats again will be the Homecoming opponents for a supposedly weak sister team. The Eastern Washington Savages, perennial king-pins of the league, entertain the Cats and will be out after the Wildcat skin and their first league win. They could well do it to Carmody's boys too. Last week the Savages gave Western a battle in losing 20-12. Look for the Redmen to be up for this. OK boys, now let's get with this one!!!

Seattle U's own 18-year old golfing wonder, Patty Lesser, has been chosen as Northwest nomination for the coveted Sullivan Award, given each year to the nation's top athlete. Speaking of Seattle U--the always powerful Chieftans meet some classy basketball teams this season notably, Pepperdine College, Los Angeles State, San Diego State, U of San Francisco, Montana State, and the barnstorming Memphis State five. How about giving our own Wildcats a few cracks at this outside competitions, coach?

Subtle Hint: Somebody donate a few more cups to the CUB so that I can get a cup of coffee during the hour.

Just how interested can you get in this game of football was demonstrated at the Whitworth-Cat tangle two weeks ago. Bill Repenshek made his finest block of the game when he unceremoniously dropped the ref during a downfield drive.

Friday night saw the dramatic end to one of the most brilliant careers in the fight world as game, but tiring old Joe Louis, went down for the last count of ten. Rocky Marciano, 27-year old Massachusetts larruper, sent two lefts and a right flush to the jaw of the Bronx Bomber and drove the former champ out of the ropes and flat on his back. Thus ended 17 years of fighting fame..It was the way big Joe probably wanted to go if he had to leave boxing--under the lights of Madison Square garden.

Yes, this Pacific Coast league is getting tougher and tougher. Schools accusing each other of dirty playing and unnecessary roughness. Comes the topper now--Coach Red Saunders of UCLA is entering the hospital this week for a leg injury incurred----while demonstrating a play for his boys.

The Thunderbirds of UBC came roaring through last Saturday in their Homecoming tilt to stop the Sweezy Wildcats' win streak at one. The Canadians did all their scoring in the second period to defeat the Cats 20-12.

During that fatal second period, the Wildcats just couldn't stop the Thunderbirds, who powered their way for three touchdowns and two extra points. Little Georgie Puil, Bird left half, was the sparking element in the Canucks' drive, skipping for yardage every time he carried the ball. A couple of long passes from Cal Murphy to Bill Hindmarch went for 31 and 21 yards each and set up two of the TDs. Puil scored two of the touchdowns, one from 16 yards out, and the other from five. Murphy went over for the other one on a quarterback sneak from the one.

Central's first score came in the opening minutes of play, with Don Rundle, defensive halfback, intercepting a Thunderbird pass on the Central 30, and going the full distance. During the remainder of the first half, the Centralites just couldn't make any headway against the Canadian defenses.

Midway in the third quarter the Wildcats started a drive on their own 21, and pushed downfield all the way, with Propst going over from the five on the first play of the final period.

So Goes The News

DICK EICHLER

I picked up a magazine the other day, and without consciously paying attention, I started thumbing through it. I stumbled on to an article which caught my eye and made me start paying close attention to what was on the printed page.

The story was directed right at the college student and it was in plain black and white statistics. I believe the title was something like "Are Our Morals In Our College Decreasing." It was laid out in readable statistics, not in two-cent words fifteen letters long.

I was really very uninformed on a subject that actually concerned me and in no manner of hesitation this survey and article combination "wised me up." I think that every college student is interested in a subject such as this and I'm not going to write out a big recommendation about this article I will only tell you that it is found in the November issue of Pageant. The rest is up to you, I dare you to read it.

I think a great many people in the world were very interested in the outcome of the recent elections in England. In fact, a great number of people the world over think that World War III rests in the hands of the British executive statesman at the present time.

The manner and policy in which he directs his stand in Egypt and Iran, through his foreign minister, certainly can ignite the whole world or pave the way to peace. Recently the mobs in Cairo have cheered the Russian legation while the words they have used to express their been exactly proper "drawing room" fashion.

If both the Suez Canal and all the Iranian oil fall into the wrong hands, and you know who I mean, it can only mean one thing to the West---disaster. Iran recently has settled down to a reasonable degree and now indicates that she will talk this thing out.

Both these sudden out bursts of nationalism cannot be suppressed without mediation. They must be recognized, supported, but---in the right direction. They must be set on a democratic and peaceful road and welcome by the free nations.

A crack down policy on all communistic agitators and Kremlin supporters has been one of the recent activities of our government. We know that for years spys have been stealing top secret information on everything from the A-bomb to a better powder to stop lice.

Government employees who had access to most of the secret information were checked, checked again, and a good many were tried and prosecuted. This was one of the best things that occurred in the capital in the last few years.

But this brings us to another point which has brought to the nation's attention in the last few months and recently by a few voluntary testimonies. Why are Russian newspaper reporters and correspondents allowed a free run over practically the entire capital and the nation?

It is comparable to shutting up the windows to stop the draft but leaving the door wide open. Are American correspondents and other free nation reporters given that free-hind the Ad building there are spaces marked S, V, and then some blank ones. S is staff, V is for visitors, and the blank ones are for off-campus students. Works out very well, except that some faculty members must not know the meaning of the word 'staff.'

ON THE SIDE: Most colleges that have an ROTC program have a Military Ball in the spring. How about it ROTCers?

TO THE PROJECTION BOOTH: There's an old saying---something about people in glass houses not throwing stones.

THE LAST BITE: It seems one of the faculty members went golfing the other day. When he returned home his wife asked him, "Well, how was it?" He replied, "Well, I broke ninety. And you know I can't afford to break ninety clubs."

dom in Russia and her statelite countries? No! A reporter and worker for a Polish paper in Germany recently stated that he was a first class spy for the Kremlin and also stated that that was the function of most newspaper men working for Russia or her statelite countries who were in free countries under the same disguise.

The leading newspaper leaders in the US have been fighting this foolish negligence of the government for the past few months and recent developments certainly support their cause. How much longer are we going to let this thing go unchecked?

We don't need to boot them out of the country, but we certainly are defeating our purpose if they are not restricted to a sensible degree. If we are fighting a cold war then let's start putting a few of these neglected practices in the deep freeze and make the term "top secret" mean something.

it could apply as well to the release date.

Starring in the film is Clifford Evans and the Deborah Kerr of pre-Hucksters days. The music on the titling is good, and done by the London Symphony, but it isn't worth sitting through the whole film, unless you happen to be sleepy.

Whether or not the film is historically accurate I am not qualified to say, but it must have one redeeming factor about it.

Don't waste Saturday night on this movie--spend it in Cheney after the game. Who knows--they might have a decent film!

Quincy, will be prompter for the cast. Even the prompter is not without experience, having done this type of work last spring at Central.

Who are all these character? Tommy, Blossom, Yank, Kiwi, Digger, and Lachlen are all soldiers resting in a British army field hospital. The colonel, Margaret, and the orderly are staff members of that hospital. The plot revolves around the difficult adjustment and the "new lease on life" that the Scotsman, Lachlen acquires. But, now, I am giving the story away: A good story that your SGA card, serving as your ticket, will permit you to see for yourself, on November 29 and 30 in the college auditorium.
